An impossible story

By

Fuhar Arya Choudhury

Teri meri prem kahani hai mushkil, do lafzon mein ye baya na ho paae....

This book is dedicated to the love of my life, my husband, Joy Choudhury...

Acknowledgments

I really thank my wonderful husband for such wonderful title, and I once again thank him, from the bottom of my heart for seriously motivating me when I said him that ‘I want to publish a book!’ I seriously appreciate the efforts that I received from my dear friends, Sudheshna Chowdhury and Gayatri Panguluri for bearing all those horrible ideas that I gave about my book in the middle of every conversation we had. Without these three, I am sure I would have thrown this hard work with some rubbish. I thank my in-laws for gifting me the most precious gift, ‘time’, I thank them for believing in me and my work. I thank my friends and supporters. I thank the publisher and its team who guided me with the step by step procedure on how to successfully publish a book. Last but not least, I thank god for bestowing me with this talent of writing without which I wouldn’t have penned down my thoughts. Without you all I wouldn’t have accomplished my dream.

Author note

Hello, namaskar, salaam and many more greetings to the one who is right now very busy reading these texts. The first and the foremost thing that I really need to do is to thank you. Do you ask me why? Okay I really thank you from the bottom of my heart for 1: picking this unknown author's book 2: for taking the risk of bearing the torture (which I probably tried my best to avoid it in here) and last but not least 3: for giving a meaning to my hard work and those sleepless nights when I always sat 90 degrees on my bed for hours and hours (I tell you this is the most difficult thing to do, difficult than reading a book with your head upside down). I really appreciate you, for being my reader and piling my hope that 'I can really write'. I never ever thought that I would land myself in something called 'authors list' but now that I got into the list, I promise you to knock at your door very often with a new story every time. So kindly keep your heart doors open for my work. Before we go further I need to take a promise (actually promises) from you. First- promise to review my book at the end (you know it means a lot to someone who is new to this wonderland). Second- promise you won't bang the book down until you reach the end (please spare me for taking this promise) and third- promise you would let none pirate my book (do you know it is illegal?). That's it! I am done here! You can now indulge yourself completely in the story.

All the best!

Synopsis

Jasmine is an introvert, who always loves to stay in her cozy shell, everything in her life is perfect or let's say beyond perfect, as she is the most pampered and beloved child of her middle-aged parents. Her parents bestowed her with the best of both the worlds, both in personal care and educational status. They trust their daughter more than anything and any other child they have. But life takes an unpredictable turn when she meets Aarush, who isn't just of opposite religion but also that they share nothing but the contradiction. He is a total flirtatious but there is something which pulls Jasmine towards him, the respect he has for a woman is something she never came across in men, he is hard working and truthful to his parents just like her, so to be clear she thinks that he is the one for her.

The real story begins when they both fall madly in love carefree about their differences, the hope begins when they realize how lifeless is their life without each other, the twist begins when their parents comes to know how badly they broke their trust, the adventure begins when they plan to elope, the pain begins when they see the unexplored and unexpected side of their partner, the sacrifice begins when one of them need to sacrifice the identity and the religion, the fear begins when they are caught by the police and family, the betrayal begins when they are brought back with the false promises and hopes, and the battle begins when they stand alone barehanded against the whole world.

I hope you all enjoy reading my first book which is truly and completely inspired by a real life story (a love story!).

Fuhar Arya Choudhury

About The Author

Fuhar Arya Choudhury is a teacher by profession who did her graduation after a long struggle from Osmania University, Hyderabad. She is an ex NCC cadet with three national certificates. She is pursuing her B.Ed in Mathematics. Life has shown her the unpredictable highs and lows giving her the experience of a wonderful rollercoaster ride, she accepts the fact that crossing these hurdles made her emotionally very strong even at the very age of 24.

She loves to teach kids, as this is one among those rare professions where she can speak nonstop, blabber her thoughts out and give infinite suggestions, even when they are not actually needed. She is very positive and ambitious that she will gain success as a writer one day, she loves to depict the real-life stories in her own style as she believes that real life stories have the potential to bring the change in the world and society, hence she is so attracted towards listening to new life stories every time (even from strangers). Reading books, making sketches and portrays, singing, dancing, cooking, calligraphy, doing art and craft, these all are her hobbies, she is a huge fan of different cuisine, she loves adventure and, travelling is her passion. To say in a sentence, she is a complete woman who lives the life to the fullest. She married her dream boy at the age of 19; marriage gave their love a new meaning.

She believes “Teaching is where she shares her wisdom and Writing is where she shares her experience.”

Chapter 1

‘The selection of NCC cadets into air wings for the year 2010’

Majority of boys and girls came out cheering up, smiling and celebrating, we were dripping wet with sweat, I stepped aside giving others a way to walk through, soon we all winners mingled (never mind we can call ourselves as winners at least for this day right?) and celebrated our victory as though we won the film fare trophy. I was so excited that I couldn’t accept the fact that I have been selected until someone just pinch or punch me. I quickly managed to have a glance at my dad, who was actually smiling. Yes finally something on earth made him smile and moreover that something is ME. I really felt my emotion swell with pride for making him happy. I and my father shared a typical father-daughter bond which is not a sort of friendly bond, I mean we rarely have a conversation and when we speak it has to be something really important like college fees or exam fees or admission fees, yes to be clear just for fees. It doesn’t mean I don’t love him; I love him from the core of my heart and words can’t shape the feelings that I carry for him.

Now, let me officially introduce myself and my family. Hey there! I am Jasmine. I am my papa’s little

Love Beyond Imagination

We say whatever has to happen is already written in our destiny but there is something called Love which we don't leave on our fate, we fight and fight till god gives up and says 'now, you have got your own copyright on your life'. When two people fall in love they don't care about their religion, caste and creed but sadly society is still the narrow minded, we can't change them, it doesn't mean that someone needs to follow certain terms and conditions before falling in love, there are few bold hearts who went against everything to prove the power of love, the eternity it possess. Some got killed in honor killing, while others hid their identity to save themselves from being caught.

This story is all about the extremities that two mad people have crossed to be with the one whom they love from the bottom of their hearts. Beside the legendary lovers like Romeo and Juliet, Krishna and Radha, Heer and Ranjha and many endless names, there are few who are just like you and me, a normal person but what differentiate them from us? It's their Bolden and Golden hearts who with every passing era inspires and amazes us with the unusual, unrepeated and unforgettable definition of love. They shout out loud from their top of their lungs that, love isn't meant for sacrificing, it is meant for being kept as the most precious and at the inexpressible height of happiness. I salute the one who went through this painful journey and always kept a word called 'hope' enlightened in you, me and every second person who fell in love at one or the other phase of life.

I hope you all enjoy reading my first book which is truly and completely inspired from a real life story (a love story!).
